

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method for making a thin film semiconductor. The method includes the steps of making a semiconductor substrate having one or more layers of different porosity, and subsequently separating the layers along a line of relative weakness. This method is particularly well adapted to manufacturing Silicon-on-Insulator (SOI) structures.

NY_MAIN 259051 v 1

COPY OF PAPERS
ORIGINALLY FILED

20000203 01030001